William Morrow, who was the founding Editor of the Record in 1980, has decided to retire from the Board, but has promised to provide ongoing commentary and support. We look forward to hearing from him on a regular basis and want to express our appreciation for all his work in the Record's early years.

Name Change

Subscribers will notice that we have deleted the word "policy" from the name. It is the editors' view that the new name Canadian Competition Record more accurately describes this publication. Its content is not restricted to policy issues as the former name suggested.

Index in Preparation

We are pleased to announce that an index covering issues of the Record from 1986 to date is in preparation. It will be available later this year.
